The Florida Department of Environmental Protection awarded Nassau County a Resilience Planning Grant to conduct a Vulnerability Assessment for rapidly growing areas, and areas with demonstrated existing flooding issues. This assessment will help Nassau County be better prepared. The County selected the Balmoral Group to assist with the assessment, and they will be on hand at the outreach events to talk about their findings.

The two areas studied in this first phase are: 1) east of I-95 on the mainland, and 2) west of I-95 south and west of A1A/SR 200/301. These areas represent portions of the County experiencing rapid growth and development pressures, and lands that are highly vulnerable due to extensive floodplain and wetland areas. Long-range planning efforts are currently being conducted for these regions of the County, and a vulnerability assessment will help inform these efforts and future planning.
